DETAILED ACTION

1. This Action is in response to Application Number 09/715,641 received on 2/24/2009.
2. Claims 1-16 and 18-31 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 26-28 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

3. Claim 26 includes a computer system comprising an interface and a quota server, both of which may be implemented in software according to Applicant's Specification. Applicant's Specification explicitly states that "the system of the invention can be embodied strictly as a software program" (page 14, lines 14-15).

4. Claims 27 and 28 include a "computer program product having a computer-readable medium". Applicant's Specification explicitly states that a computer readable medium may be firmware. See page 14, lines 7-13 of Applicant's Specification.

Computer programs claimed as computer listings per se, i.e., the descriptions or expressions of the programs are not physical "things". They are neither computer components nor statutory processes, as they are not "acts" being performed. Such claimed computer programs do not define any structural and functional interrelationships between the computer program and other claimed elements of a computer, which permit the computer program's functionality to be realized.

M.P.E.P. 2601.1 Section I states, "Since a computer program is merely a set of instructions capable of being executed by a computer, the computer program itself is not a process and USPTO personnel should treat a claim for a computer program, without the computer-readable medium needed to realize the computer program's functionality, as nonstatutory functional descriptive material."

As such, claims 26-28 are not limited to statutory subject matter and are therefore non-statutory.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 1-16 and 18-25, 29-31 are allowed.

Conclusion

In the case of amending the claimed invention, Applicant is respectfully requested to indicate the portion(s) of the specification which dictate(s) the structure relied on for proper interpretation and also to verify and ascertain the metes and bounds of the claimed invention.
